Turbulent times for the aviation sector in India, according to Netscribes' report

Netscribes (India) Pvt. Ltd., launches its Airlines Databank – India, report covering the Indian Aviation Sector. The report is a databank providing financial and operational data of each domestic airline in India.

Mumbai, India – June 29, 2009 – Netscribes (India) Pvt. Ltd., a knowledge consulting Solutions Company, announces the launch of its report - Airlines Databank – India. Revolutionized by liberalization, the Indian aviation sector has witnessed tremendous growth in the past few years. Many new privately owned full service airlines and low cost carriers have entered the Indian aviation market. However, the growth in the sector has slowed with the rise in fuel prices and decline in passenger traffic. The increasing losses of domestic carriers are expected to lead to some consolidation and regulatory changes in coming years.

The report provides a snapshot of the performance of the domestic carriers in India. It begins with an overview of the regulatory changes in Indian aviation space highlighting changes in FDI policy, taxes and duties and airport infrastructure. The report provides a snapshot of leading domestic carriers in India including their financial performance, revenue breakdown and domestic operations. The reports also provide historical traffic and operational statistics of each carrier. Traffic statistics includes parameters such as fleet size, number of flights operated per day, average passenger load factor etc. Operational performance includes parameters such as number of employees per aircraft, operating revenue per employee, operating expense per employee etc.
